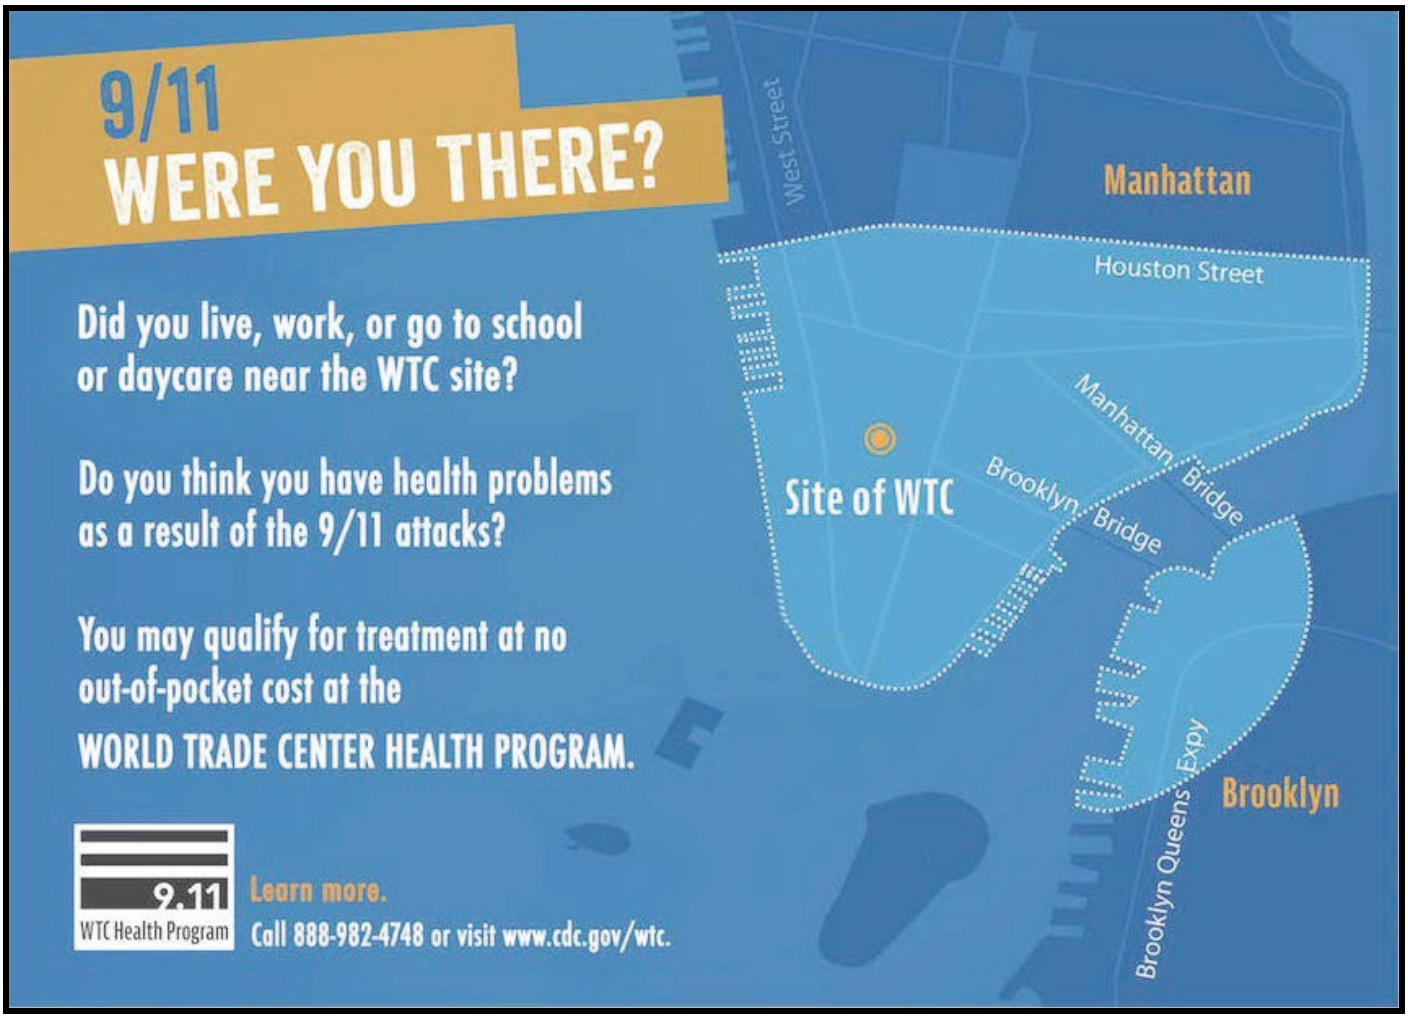
THIS SEPTEMBER MARKS THE 15TH ANNIVERSARY OF 9/11

If You Suffer Physical or Mental Health Problems from 9/11, Including Coughing, Wheezing, GERD, Anxiety, PTSD, Shortness of Breath, Sinus Congestion, Stomach Problems, Depression or Cancer, Help Is Available



The WTC Health Program was established by the James Zadroga 9/11 Health and Compensation Act of 2010. This program provides medical and mental health care to "Responders" and "Survivors" affected by the WTC disaster at no out-of-pocket cost. "Survivors" are those who lived, worked or went to school or daycare in the area. Survivors living in and around NYC are treated at the WTC Environmental Health Center (at locations in Manhattan and Queens). Those living outside of the NYC area have access to a nationwide network of providers. Cancer care is available through such renowned programs as Memorial Sloan Kettering. If you have a physical or mental health issue you think may be related to 9/11, you may be eligible for the program. Call 888-982-4748 or visit www.cdc.gov/wtc.

The 9/11 Victim Compensation Fund (VCF) provides compensation for any individual (or personal representative of a deceased individual) that suffered physical harm or was killed as a result of the 9/11 aircraft crashes and building collapses, as well as the cleanup efforts that took place in the immediate aftermath. WTC responders, survivors, or next of kin can file claims for economic loss due to WTC physical health impacts. (Unfortunately, mental health impacts are not compensable.) For additional information call 1-855-885-1555 or visit www.vcf.gov.
