Where the most popular answer accounted for 50.1% or more of the total answers, that answer is highlighted. Where no answer accounted for 50.1% or more of the total answers, the highest two (or, in a few cases, three) answers are highlighted. These questions may be suitable for review and protest, especially those, such as number 37 where two answers seem virtually tied. (Note: this analysis is based on the first 200 answer sheets returned to the union for the main Saturday SAT exam session.)
